Dear Sir or Madam:

Enclosed are the 2003 annual report forms for the Little Mountain Quarry (M/045/005) and the Quarry Antone (M/045/021). Please note that there are two changes in the information contained in the reports, as compared to the reports submitted last year. First, in light of Harry Philip's retirement, I have been designated as the company representative for these two properties and so my name, title and contact information have been substituted for Harry's in the appropriate places. Second, upon review of last year's annual reports we realized that both contained outdated information regarding disturbed acreage, and we have updated them accordingly. Specifically, consistent with the Division's inspections of these sites in the summer of 2002, and related permitting and bond-adjustment actions, the appropriate disturbed acreages for these sites are approximately 23.3 acres for Little Mountain, and approximately 11.7 acres for Quarry Antone. These larger acreage figures do not, of course, mean there has been additional mining at the sites by Utah Portland during the last several years, but rather reflect more accurate, GPS-based measurements of the prior disturbance.

You should also know that effective January 1, 2004, Lone Star Industries, Inc. ("Lonestar"), the parent company of Utah Portland Cement, was part of a merger that that formed a new company under the name Buzzi Unicem USA Inc., and Lone Star will henceforth operate under the trade name Buzzi Unicem USA. Utah Portland Quarries, Inc., however, continues to be the owner and operator of the Little Mountain Quarry and the Quarry Antone, and continues to be fully owned by Lone Star dba Buzzi Unicem USA, and thus the reclamation permits should remain in the name of Utah Portland Quarries, Inc.

If you should have any questions, feel free to give me a call.

Sincerely,

Roderick H. Simmons
